Insurance for Everything.
"How many kinds of insurance are there?" asks a correspondent of the Insurance Press. By a coincidence we received in the same mail the business card of an enterprising local insurance agency in a Western city, which claims to have on sale "all kinds of insurance and bonds." Here is the Western agency's list: Fire, life, safe, rents, theft, credit, patent, marine, tornado, accident, burglary, sprinkler, lightning, plate glass, transportation, tourists' baggage, bank and messenger robbery, tailors and furniture floaters, physicians' and druggists' liability, travelers' samples, fidelity, official, contract, judicial and court bonds, teams, health, postal, elevator, casualty, fly-wheel, steamboiler, automobile, contingent, use and occupancy, employers' liability, workmen's collective, liquor dealers' license, general liability, holdup insurance, bank accounts.—Insurance Press.

Hard to Estimate Time.
A novel method of testing the veracity of evidence was introduced at Hull police court the other day. A witness estimated the duration of a certain incident in which she was concerned to be about five minutes. The statement was a most important piece of evidence in a serious case, and she was therefore asked to face the wall of the court for a similar length of time. After one minute and forty seconds she turned around, and was a little surprised to hear that time had flown so slowly. The stipendiary magistrate retired during the test.
